Ola' Jose'

I am feeling very miserable after our short telephone conversation. I know, I utterly deserve to feel this way. Again, I was irresponsable, Unreliable and how can you trust and 'work' with someone like that.

I am not asking for forgiveness because you can not go on forgiven me for my mistakes. And if I was in East-Timor, I would have been pardom by a bullet from the enemy.

I have worked and sacrificed just to be where I am. I acknowledge that this is nothing comparing to what you have experienced in the past

I know there are few things which are interfering with my performance. One is my personal relationship. However, I am ready to give it up (all) and continue with my trainning.

As you say and I quote "Mistakes are inherent in human condition..." I am working to my best ability to correct my mistakes.

Jose', I am on my knees asking you not to cut me loose. Nevertheless, whatever you may decide, I still respect and admire you.

With kind regards
Nelson Santos
